

A Lonely Day - Yet Destined Together

She was sitting by the window, watching the rain blur the city lights. alone in the world that felt too quiet, her heart hoped for something she couldn't name. there's an apartment across the road, where he was sitting with his book. all alone, by himself. their lives were parallel, it seems like two souls lost in their own silence. until one night, they both are brought together, a wrong delivery, a shy hello and an awkward smile.

Days turned into weeks, weeks turned into months, they got closer, the conversation grew deeper. they spoke about the dreams they were never dared to talk about, they shared things which were supposed to be not shared. in each other, they found the missing pieces that they thought were missing. her laugh filled his quiet heart, making him more confident. the loneliness that they felt long ago seems to be fade away now. and they are no longer the quiet within themselves.

Sooner or later, days passed until they realized that the connection has started to grow, they felt like one soul craving for other, and the connection they can't deny. they were still two people, who once felt loneliness, no hope within them. but together, they found the everlasting light. destiny had quietly woven their lives into something beautiful. something, they both knew it was just a beginning.